Sunday, May 24th is Pentecost Sunday—come celebrate with us!

While there's no official dress code, many in our church family have embraced a beautiful tradition: wearing the colors of Pentecost, symbolizing the fire of the Holy Spirit. Over the years, the sanctuary filled with God's people clothed in vibrant hues of red, orange, and yellow has become a radiant and joyful sight.

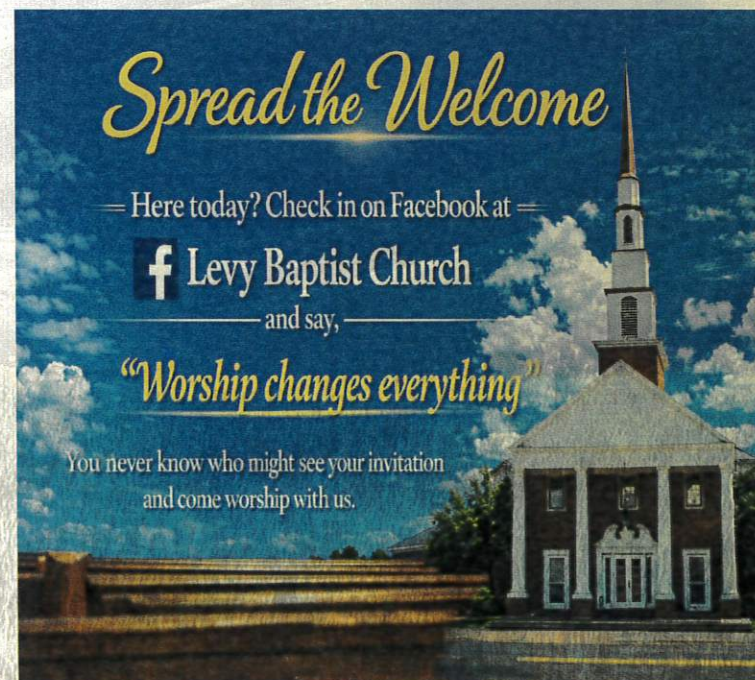

If red isn't in your wardrobe, feel free to wear any light, bright, or fiery colors that echo the warmth and wonder of this sacred day. More important than what we wear outwardly, may we each be adorned inwardly by the Spirit—with joy, boldness, and the beauty of holiness.

Let's come ready to worship in spirit and in truth—clothed in celebration!

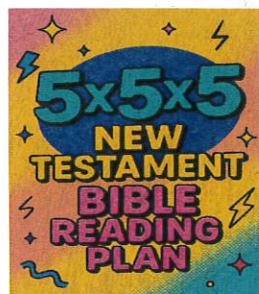

In the Library

Headstrong businesswoman Ella Yoder and heartbroken bachelor Nelson Bontrager, whose lives collide in Marigold, Ohio. As their family members begin a romance, Ella and Nelson are forced together, moving from mutual mistrust to a surprising connection
